Advancement • Exciting developments are unfolding with the National Migrant Scholars Internship (NMSI) Initiative! In the second quarter, we successfully welcomed seven new interns, and we are currently collaborating with five scholars in the third quarter. To date, more than 260 students have benefited from our program. This quarter, we also strengthened partnerships with 14 employers, six of whom are currently hosting our interns. These collaborations significantly enhanced the learning experiences of our seven scholars this quarter. The impact on these students is something we can all take pride in, and we look forward to seeing this number grow.

Looking ahead, we are continuing to connect with CAMP programs this summer to ensure a smooth transition for the 2025 first-year class arriving this fall. We have a range of workshops planned, including sessions on resume writing, cover letters, and mock interviews—all designed to equip our students for success. These future plans demonstrate our ongoing commitment to the growth and development of our scholars.

We are thrilled with the continued progress of the NMSI Initiative and the opportunities it provides for our scholars. We also plan to maintain strong collaborations with employers through both virtual and in-person visits, increasing accessibility across all CAMP programs nationwide, and expanding meaningful opportunities for our CAMP scholars. It's an exciting time to be part of this community, and we remain committed to pushing the boundaries of what's possible for our students.
